

Joelle Nicole Robinson

Joelle Nicole Robinson was born in Washington DC and raised in Prince Georges County, Maryland. Active throughout high school, was a member of the school marching band as a dancer. Dance has always been a favorite hobby. She began her matriculation at Spelman College in the fall of 2004. She has been involved in numerous campus activities and organizations. Additionally, her four years of participation in the Americorps, Jumpstart Program, throughout her undergraduate studies, displays her dedication to community service and early childhood education. Majoring in Sociology and Anthropology, with a concentration in Public Health she will graduate with honors from Spelman College in May of 2008. She is an undergraduate intern for Morehouse School of Medicine's Community Voices Program. She plans to attend Columbia University in the fall of 2008 to attain a Master of Public Health degree in Sociomedical Science.